

NEWSFLASH!

It's official...Justin is a helicopter pilot!! On July 14th he traveled up to Phoenix to complete his check ride and he is now a certified commercial helicopter pilot. Start planning your trips to visit us, friends...he can now take you on guided helicopter tours!

We are so thankful...all of Justin's initial training has gone very well. While we were disappointed to not be leaving for Indonesia this summer, we have been encouraged over and over that this is where God would have us for now. We are getting excited as we learn more about the helicopter program that NTM Aviation is just starting up in Sulawesi, Indonesia and we're really looking forward to being part of it.

At this point it looks like we will be able to leave for Indonesia in mid-2010. Justin needs to attain a certain level of proficiency as well as sufficient flight hours to be qualified to fly for the program in Indonesia. Please pray with us that all of the many details will continue to work out for us to head to the field and that we will be patient in waiting for God's timing as we serve here in AZ.

Other Aviation News:

Justin finished all of his flight and maintenance check-outs for fixed-wing aircraft in April, so we are happy to report that he is finished with what we originally came down here for.

We told you a little bit about the 182 diesel conversion project for Senegal in our last letter. Good news: it's done! There is some final paperwork to finish up before it can be shipped off, but she sure is looking pretty. Justin enjoyed being able to be part of that project. We are excited that soon missionaries in Senegal will put it to good use.

Other News & Happenings

While Justin has been busy flying and fixing, Courtney has kept busy with other activities. She still works in the office a couple of days each week. She has also been counseling a client from the community and is enjoying the challenge and reward of that opportunity. Courtney had also hoped to substitute teach this spring, but the application process here in AZ turned out to be quite lengthy, so she wasn't approved until the week school let out for the summer. We are hoping that will be a good way to get to know some more people in the community during the upcoming school year.

In addition to our usual daily activities, we were happy to hang out with many people we love this spring. We made a quick trip up to Chicago for missions weekend at one of our home churches. It was so great to be home, even though it was brief. Back in Arizona, we checked out an old copper mine with Courtney's parents, went for a trail ride with her cousin Kimberly, hiked to a cave with our friend Vicki, and rode motorcycles with Courtney's sister, Leah, and her husband Josh. We are all practiced up on tour guiding, so come on down to visit!

PRAISE the Lord with us...

- That Justin has successfully completed his fixed-wing check-outs and that he passed his commercial helicopter check ride!
- For the great times we have had with family and friends this spring.
- For His provision in our lives. We are continually blown away by His care for us through all of you.
- For safety in Justin's flying.

Please PRAY with us...

- For continued safety and quick learning as Justin pursues advanced helicopter training and helps with various maintenance projects here.
- For smooth operation of the NTMA Helicopter program in Sulawesi, Indonesia as it gets underway.
- That God will provide the remaining funds needed to finish training in the helicopter.
- That all of the details will work out so that we can leave for Indonesia in mid-2010.
- That we will be an encouragement to our coworkers here at NTMA.
